Happy New Year!

Judy's Wishes for the New Year

Peace on Earth

Personal Self Confidence & Earned Happiness — handouts only achieve short lived happiness

Adequate affordable housing — both here and in other countries, especially Haiti

Understanding and Bridging Cultures such as The Fuller Center's efforts to help build homes in North Korea

Good Health — knowledge of: drug abuse in destroying one's self; and that physical labor can improve fitness

Awareness of the needs of those around us and willingness to help — being "good neighbors"

I would like to thank all the people who helped us up in Mullan and at Sunny Slopes, and for the people who helped at the events this year.

Sincerely,
Mike Humphrey
SVFCH President

*"I see life as both a gift and a responsibility. My responsibility is to use what God has given me to help His people in need."
- Millard Fuller*

Be steadfast, immovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, knowing that your labor is not in vain.

Our 2010 Christmas Potluck

It was great to have our members of our 3rd homeowner family, Beth, Stephanie, and Pierce Otto, join us for the party. Stephanie was born after their home was built & Pierce was just a tot. The Ottos completed purchasing their home in 2009. ☺

New homeowner-to-be, Teresa Lavergne poses with good friends, Rick & Rene Gilbert.

New homeowner family, Jacki, Ruth, and Ben Huber enjoyed the party.

Reflection on friends who have passed on

Millard Fuller, who with his wife Linda, founded Habitat for Humanity and also The Fuller Center for Housing. This photo was from the Faith 2000 Conference in Seattle.

Founding member, Jim Shadle, plumbed our 1st 5 homes. He was a fantastic volunteer recruiter.

HOUSING IN RIO DE JANEIRO

By Verne Blalack (Verne & Judy spent 3 weeks in November visiting Chile, Argentina & Brazil.)

We toured 2 favelas and were allowed to take photos in only certain places in the first one. A member of the local drug gang was watching with his automatic rifle.

are the workers of Rio. They are the clerks, the bus drivers, the bus boys, the electricians, the concrete workers, the plumbers, the housekeepers and nannies, etc. They are the labor force of Rio. Thus, they bring their building skills to favela building. Some houses have electricity, plumbing, etc.

There are few streets. One street was built by the rich just to serve as a racing course, very steep and crooked, for an international event! Housing adjacent to roads with installed sewer and water lines have been able to get deeds to their property. Getting deeds to off road property is very slow in coming although everyone agrees who owns what and property is bought and sold. Without deeds, homeowners can't get regular loans on their property, which leaves millions of dollars of equity unavailable to homeowners as well as leaving millions of dollars of housing off the tax rolls of Rio. Off road dwellings have sidewalk "streets" with house numbers, mail delivery, electric meters, etc.

As Rio has some international events coming in the near future including the next Olympics, the government is attempting to make the favelas less of an eyesore in a relatively short time. Amazingly, the thousands of dwellings consist of many smaller communities, the richer ones complete with schools, churches, medical facilities, community centers, etc. The poorer ones have sewer challenges, drug gang wars, etc.,

The million $ view of the resorts and lovely bay.

The land mass of Rio de Janeiro is a series of small valleys each with its beautiful beach separated by steep granite ridges. Because of the steepness of the ridges, tunnels connect all these valleys. The valleys contain the main shopping areas, hotels, banks, etc. The flat land is where most of the rich live with easy access to a private airport, a private yacht bay, private golfing, horse stables, etc.

The workers of Rio live in the "favelas", some of which are adjacent to the industrial areas near the docks and the rest on the steep granite slopes. As the first workers could not afford to live in the flats, they squatted on the hillsides adjacent to the rich upper class flatlanders. Later arriving workers built behind the original squatters. Today the steep slopes are covered with worker housing. Contrary to my expectations, the favelas aren't just slums with flimsy shacks. They are mostly masonry buildings. We were in a seven story one complete with a garage on the top floor with three newer vehicles. These favela dwellers especially on the outskirts of Rio where newcomers use scrap materials for homes. As workers get richer and are unable to move to the flat areas, they reinvest their money in their favela community. Regardless of wealth, most favela dwellers have a million dollar view, looking down a valley, across a flat valley to a tropical sandy beach available to everyone.

This narrow way had a "street name" & house numbers.

Last May, Verne & Bob discuss the construction of the “Little Shop’ while Skyler Wilburn paints the soffits. We still need to sell about 70 tickets before we can raffle it. In addition to the other businesses who are selling tickets, Kellogg Lumber Co, Ace Hardware, and Building Maintenance now have them for sale. Remember, there is an offer of $1000 for the winning ticket if you don't want the building. Tickets are $10 ea. or 6 for $50
